

BIG LINER FIGHTS MONSTER WAVES IN 100-MILE GALE

Mauretania Is Tossed Like a Cork in Its Most Tempestuous Atlantic Voyage.

The big Cunard liner Mauretania came in today from Liverpool, her white-red funnels bearing mute evidence of fierce storms encountered on the voyage. She was five days, three hours and twenty-seven minutes making the trip, and she has made it in four days, ten hours and forty-one minutes. Only twenty-three knots an hour were averaged and she has an average record of more than twenty-six knots. Head winds and high seas buffeted the Cunarder all the way.

The storm reached its greatest height last Wednesday, when a 100-mile an hour gale lashed the ship and lathered the ocean with snow white foam. The sea became a series of mountains and swales of water and the great ship was tossed about like a cork.

The dining room in the first cabin was deserted that day, only one passenger braving the wrath of the elements. This was Miss Marguerite Skirvin, a charming little actress and dancer. But no one ventured out on deck. Walls of green water pitched over the bow of the steamer and crashed down upon deck, sending sheets of spray nearly to the top of the great funnels. The Mauretania rode through the storm like a life buoy, none the worse for her experience. It was the roughest voyage through which she had ever passed.

On the steamer was John H. McFadden, the millionaire cotton broker of Philadelphia. Mr. McFadden for several years has been interested in cancer. With his financial backing the Lister Institute of London is making a worldwide search into the disease, trying to determine its cause.

"We are seeking a cure for the disease," said the broker. "We are simply endeavoring to locate the cause of the growth. We will leave the remedy to others. Once we learn the cause of the disease it should be a difficult matter to find a cure. The progress already made has been simply wonderful. It has far exceeded our expectations, and we look forward to great results."

Mrs. W. B. Leeds, widow of the tin plate king, was another passenger on the Mauretania. She was accompanied by her ten-year-old son, who had been attending school at Eton and didn't like it. Mrs. Leeds said she was here only for a short vacation.

Mrs. James Bryce, wife of the English Ambassador to the United States, was another passenger on the steamer. So also was Sir Ernest Shackleton, who made the run for the South Pole before the late Capt. Scott. He is now in the cigarette business and makes several voyages to this country each year.

His Happy Thought.
(From the Kansas City Times.)
Pinegan was watching by the bedside of his injured comrade who had attended the hackdriver's ball the night before. Hannigan's eyes were closed and he breathed heavily, but Pinegan doubted that he was in dreamland. "Hannigan," he whispered, "be ye asleep?"

"Naw, quit disturbin' me."
"All right, Hannigan. But as soon as you go to sleep tell me, for 'er doctor wants me to telephone him this."

Cow's Curious Conduct.
(From the Columbus (O.) Dispatch.)
When one of the fenders of the Dayton City Railway car picked up a young heifer at the corner of Third and Jersey streets the conductor filled out the required report blank to Superintendent Edward Howell. In answer to the question "What did the victim say?" the employee wrote: "She was carried along on the fender for a short distance, then rolled off, and ran away without saying a word."

POPE'S DOCTORS WILL NOT CONSENT TO AUDIENCES.

ROME, March 28.—The Pope's condition is such that the attending physicians hesitate to consent to a resumption of audiences, although the great numbers of persons waiting to be received are being added to daily. Several pilgrimages have recently arrived in Rome.

A rumor that the Pope had had a relapse was current here yesterday, but his doctors and the Vatican authorities denied the report, asserting that he is getting better steadily although slowly.

You Should Enjoy Your Meals

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

If your stomach cannot digest your food, what will be the result? The answer is in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 3,000 grains of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach?

You Can Eat with the Appetite of a Lucky
Youngster, If You Help Your Stomach.

Science nowadays can digest food without having it enter the stomach at all. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. You digest, and digest thoroughly and well, and nothing and everything you eat.

The burning question to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is in any way disordered, you are not getting the most out of life. You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work, and you suffer from eruptions, blot, rash, fermentation, biliousness, nervous stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat all you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets, and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

Get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store.
